Texas Pediatric Readiness Education Series

The Texas Pediatric Readiness Improvement Project is a collaborative effort to improve pediatric outcomes and support trauma centers in learning more about pediatric concerns in the emergency department. These 1-hour virtual sessions will highlight evidence-based practices and resources for adoption in the emergency department, review standardized simulation cases, and integrate opportunities to engage in pediatric quality improvement efforts.

Here's a snapshot of a few topics slated for the monthly series:

- Pediatric Non-traumatic Surgical Emergencies
- Safe Sleep & Infant Cardiac Arrest
- Pediatric Mental Health

Continuing education credit will be available for nurses and EMS personnel.
